

Remote sensing for index insurance

Findings and lessons so far

World Food Programme

Investing in rural people

This publication was developed for the Weather Risk Management Facility of the International Fund for Agricultural Development and the World Food Programme, by Andrea Stoppa, Emily Coleman, Francesco Rispoli, and William Dick. Sven Gilliams and Isabelle Piccard of the Flemish Institute for Technological Research (VITO) have provided significant contributions and support throughout the implementation of project activities. The publication also benefited from the editing support of Chris Jarzombek and Amal Magzoub. This project was made possible with funding from Agence Française de Développement.

© 2015 by the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD)

The opinions expressed in this publication are those of the authors and do not necessarily represent those of the International Fund for Agricultural Development (IFAD). The designations employed and the presentation of material in this publication do not imply the expression of any opinion whatsoever on the part of IFAD concerning the legal status of any country, territory, city or area or of its authorities, or concerning the delimitation of its frontiers or boundaries. The designations “developed” and “developing” countries are intended for statistical convenience and do not necessarily express a judgement about the stage reached in the development process by a particular country or area.

ISBN 978-92-9072-561-9

Rome, March 2015

Front cover ©ESA-BELSP0 2015, produced by VITO

A PROBA-V satellite image of West Africa capturing Senegal, as well as The Gambia, Guinea and Guinea-Bissau.